1. Critics ~~cannot avoid~~ employing complex and abstract ~~technical~~ terms if they ~~are to~~ successfully analyze literary texts and discuss them in a meaningful way.
2. Scientific research ~~generally~~ depends on ~~fully~~ accurate data if it is to offer theories that ~~will allow us to~~ predict the future in a plausible way.
3. In regard to ~~desirable~~ employment in teaching jobs, prospects for those ~~engaged~~ in graduate-school-level studies are at best not certain.
4. ~~Notwithstanding the fact that all~~ legal restrictions on the use of firearms are the subject of heated debate and argument, it is necessary that the general public ~~not stop~~ carrying on discussions ~~pro and con~~ in regard to them.
5. Most likely, a ~~majority of all~~ patients who appear at a public medical ~~clinical~~ facility do not expect special medical ~~attention or~~ treatment, because their particular health problems ~~and concerns are often~~ not major and for the most part can usually be adequately treated without much time, effort, and attention.
6. The insured must provide the insurer with receipts, checks, or other evidence of costs when expenses exceed $250.
7. If reductions in federal spending are not introduced, there is no possibility to reduce the size of the federal deficit.
8. Continue medication unless symptoms of dizziness and nausea are not present for six hours.
9. A full hearing into the reasons for his or her not being accepted will be given to those prevented from participating in cost-sharing educational programs
10. As long as a computation of the total mass of the universe has not been done, no agreement exists on the question of an open or closed universe, a dispute about which likely will not be resolved.
11. The government will have no difficulty in paying its debts so long as taxpayers do not engage in widespread refusal to pay taxes.
12. If we wish to stop being energy dependent on imported oil, we have no alternative in this country than to eventually develop of tar sand, oil shale, and coal as sources of fuel.
13. There be a start to a reconciliation between Catholics and Protestants when a resolution in regard to the authority of the papal supremacy is reached.

The first statement is less clear, this avoids phrases which are negative to consumers. Rather than saying that the product gives you fees, it's phrased as if you will not be charged a fee if you do something.

I would rephrase it as:

Your free trial gives you 30 days to cancel before you are charged the first monthly fee.

This statement remains positive, emphasizing the free trial and also provides you with a deadline.
